Q: In Openshift, Expose a Node application as an external service, but not all of them I have several servers running on Openshift that I want to expose as public IP addresses. I see that I can use Services, but I only want to expose a subset of the services as public IP addresses, and not all of them. How can I do this? A: Oddly enough, the answer to this question is in your question: "They are all running the same app, just with different configuration files for each image." Simply use a different configuration file, and you can do that just by switching the environment from "Development" to whatever you want to use in production. The environment for a service is simply a different set of parameters for the service itself. More on how to do that here: Diplomat head : When should other parents of child victims be contacted? Sorry for the lack of news, the game is still under development and thus, we can't say anything yet. It's a
